

St. Lawrence Hospital Reunion

Saturday 16 July 1994

In 1994 the Welsh Regional Plastic Surgery Unit at St. Lawrence Hospital will be relocated in a purpose built new unit at Morrision Hospital, Swansea. The summer meeting of the British Association is being held in Swansea that year between 13-15 July. This would seem an ideal opportunity to celebrate over 40 years of plastic surgery in Chepstow and all past and present members of the staff at the hospital are being invited to attend for the day. Various departments of the hospital will be open and plan to present small exhibitions. There will also be various recreational activities including a barn dance in the evening. Any past members of the staff at the hospital who would like to attend are asked to contact Mr P. J. Sykes, Consultant Plastic Surgeon, St. Lawrence Hospital, Chepstow, Gwent NP6 5YX.

British Association of Plastic Surgeons

Advanced Course in Plastic Surgery (September 1992-July 1996)

6. Hand 2: Upper Limb Trauma/Peripheral Nerve Surgery
22-23 July 1994 (Leeds)

The above is the sixth meeting in a series of 12 of the fifth series of the Advanced Course in Plastic Surgery. Further details about the programme, fees, and other meetings in the series can be obtained from Mrs H. C. Roberts, Administrative Secretary, British Association of Plastic Surgeons, 35-43 Lincoln's Inn Fields, London WC2A 3PN. Tel: 071 831 5161/2 Fax: 071 831 4041

ErrataFractures of the frontal sinus; a rationale of treatment

Ch. Ioannides, H. P. Freihofer and J. Vrieus

British Journal of Plastic Surgery (1993) 46: 208-214

When this paper was first published the name of third author was spelt incorrectly. Please note the corrected version above. The authors, editors and publishers would like to apologise for any inconvenience caused.

Endoscopic assisted transaxillary augmentation mammoplasty

L. C. Y. Ho

British Journal of Plastic Surgery (1993) 46: 332-336.

Please note that in the printed version of this paper figures 7B and C and Figures 8 C and D have been transposed. We would like to apologise to the author and readers for any confusion caused.